Melbourne Festival presents

FUTURE CLASSIC NIGHT

Foxtel Festival Hub

Some of Australia’s hottest up and coming artists from one of the country’s leading record labels will fill the Foxtel Festival Hub with energy and electronic vibes for four hours of intoxicating dance music.

Originally conceived as a vinyl-only imprint for cutting edge releases, Future Classic—home to Chet Faker, Flight Facilities and Flume among others—is now entering its 10th year.

The label started as a side project of founder and co-director Nathan McLay and his then-partner, now wife and artistic director, Jay Ryves. They were soon joined by McLay’s best friend’s brother, Chad Gillard, and Future Classic been at the forefront of Australia’s burgeoning electronic music scene ever since.

Joining the line up for a night celebration is Charles Murdoch and his masterful knack for sophisticated, cerebral house music, along with the collaborative bass-heavy dance duo, HWLS.

The Future Classic DJs, who have been accompanying and supporting the label’s biggest acts for a decade, will also bring their eclectic playlist of tunes for what will no doubt be an exhilarating evening of Australia’s ‘next’ sound.
